Thank you for choosing Impact

The Impact SRP Wall Plates mount to any flat surface and can be used for a variety of mounting applications. You can use a wall plate as a low stand by attaching it to the floor or an apple box and mounting a fixture directly onto the 5/8-inch stud or receiver. Wall plates take up less room than tripod legs, so you can fit them into tight spaces where stands or clamps don't fit. You can also use them for wall mounting or other hard-to-reach areas. All of Impact's wall plates are constructed with heavy-duty chrome steel for strength and durability.

All wall plates have eight anchor points, and all baby-pin wall plates have a small hole for a safety cable (not included).

SRP-115P, 116P, and 117P Wall Plates feature straight welded steel baby pins with lengths of 3, 6, and 9 inches respectively.

SRP-119P has a baby pin set at a right angle and a 5-inch extension.

SRP-120P incorporates a baby pin on an etched steel ball with a 360-degree rotating swivel for placing your light at any position.

SRP-123P is equipped with a 5/8-inch baby receiver that gives you the option of using the plate as a small speaker or monitor platform, as well as a low stand.
